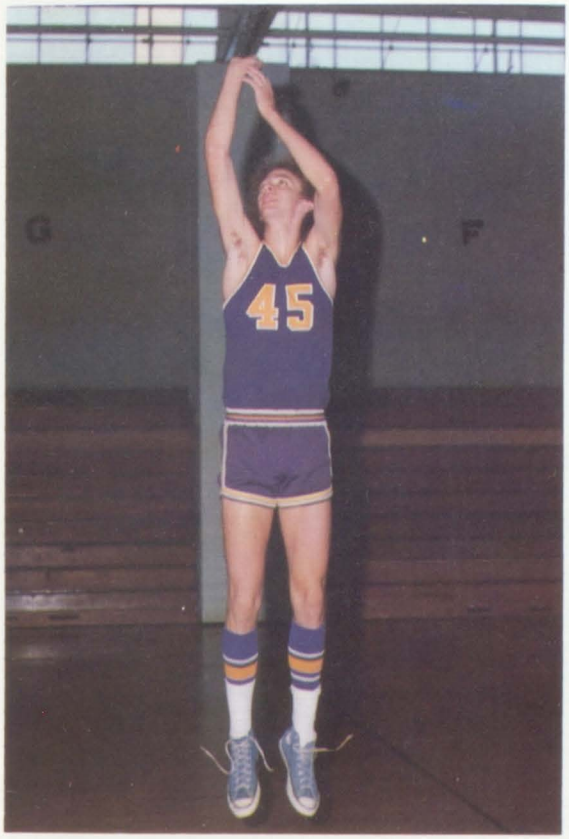
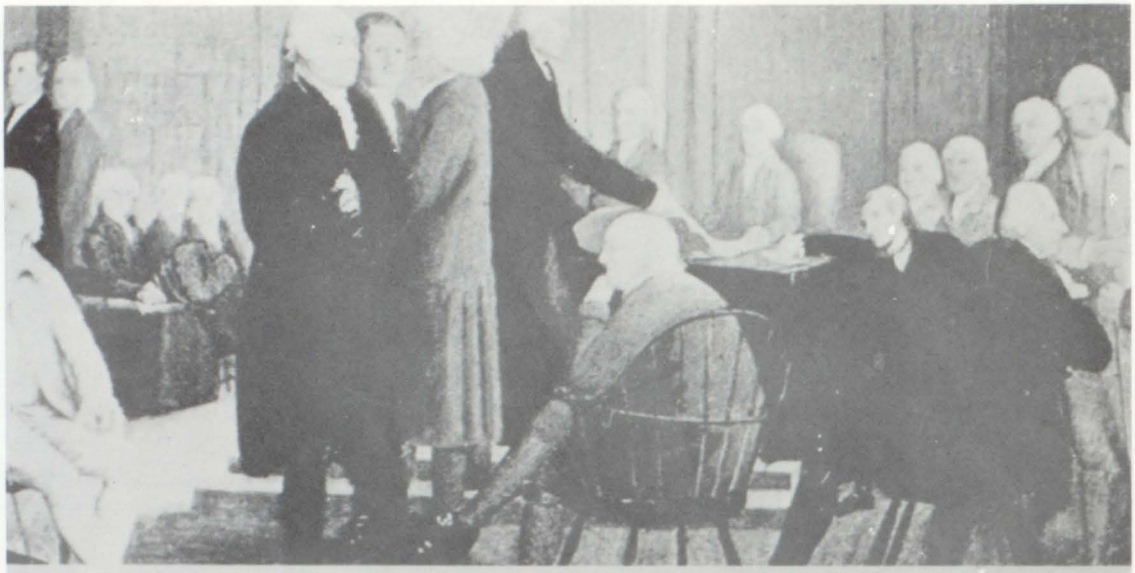
We Are the Jackets



As each person at Byrd had his own unique personality, the colonists of Revolutionary America each carried his own interests and identity. Whether he was a patriot burning for separation, or a loyalist waiting for reunion to mother England, each colonist expressed his feelings through his own individualism. By combining their separate skills and ideas, the early revolutionaries produced a most effective plan that was as shocking to the eyes of the world as it was effective in changing the lives of its inhabitants. By this same method of uniting many talents and forces into one, Byrd contained the great spirit that can come only from the heart of the individual.

DETERMINATION . . .



The Library of Congress

Thomas Jefferson made the rough draft at left of the Declaration of Independence. The changes, mostly by Benjamin Franklin, were few, but each made the Declaration more forceful. On July 2, 1776, Washington wrote, "The time is now near at hand which must probably determine whether Americans are to be Freemen or Slaves." Two days later, the Congress voted for independence. The scene is shown above in a painting by Robert Edge Pine and Edward Savage, done in 1785.

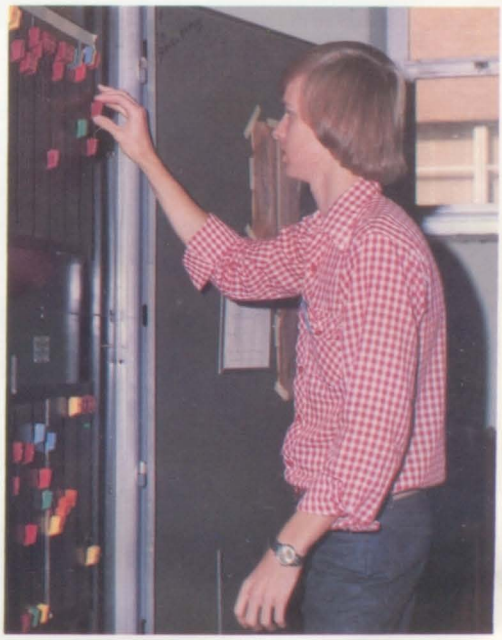
This Victory Will Be Ours

The determination of students at Byrd has always proved essential in achieving the goal of making their high school the best - whether in scholarship, leadership, character, or service. Determination likewise proved necessary to fulfilling the first steps which led to the United States' independence from Britain. Without this will and strength of character, the Declaration of Independence could never have been written, signed, or delivered, and the thirteen colonies would have remained under England's care. This was the kind of force at Byrd that encouraged students to make the best of themselves and, at the same time, make the best of their school.



COURAGE . . . With Spirits

Top Left: David Gibson, like many other students, faced the challenge of giving a report in front of his class. Top Right: Students sought courage in talking to the administration to work out their problems. Bottom: Members of the Junior class taking the PSAT-NMSQT had confidence to take the test that would place them for college standards.

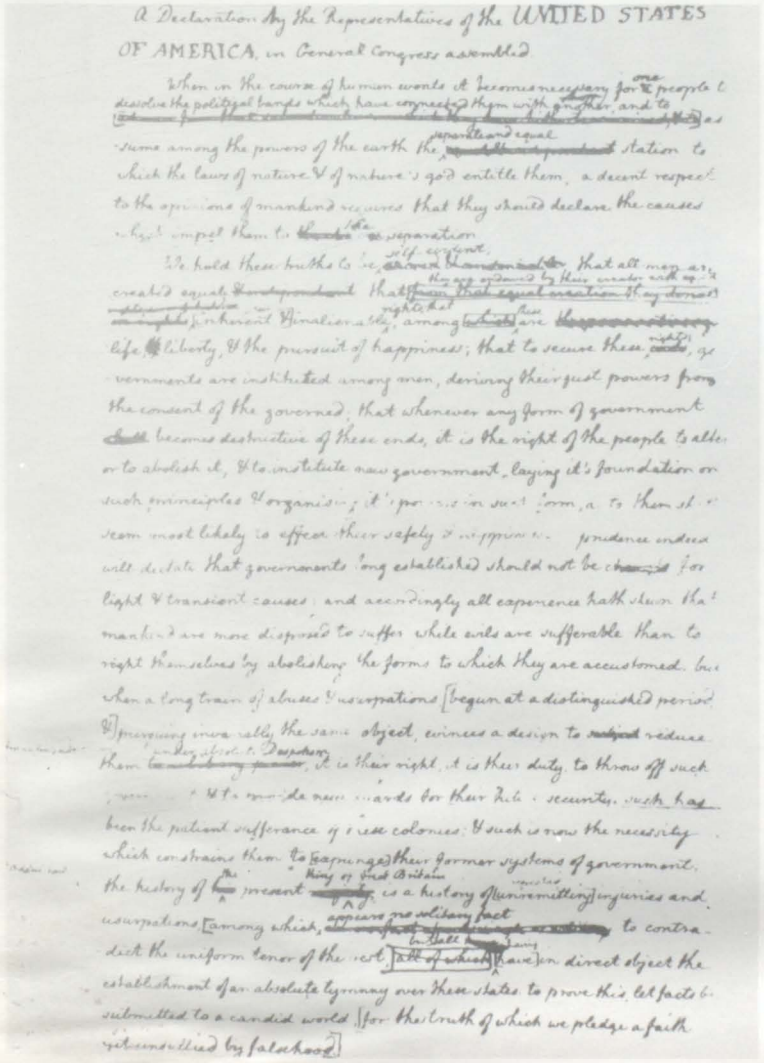
High and Hopes Undaunted



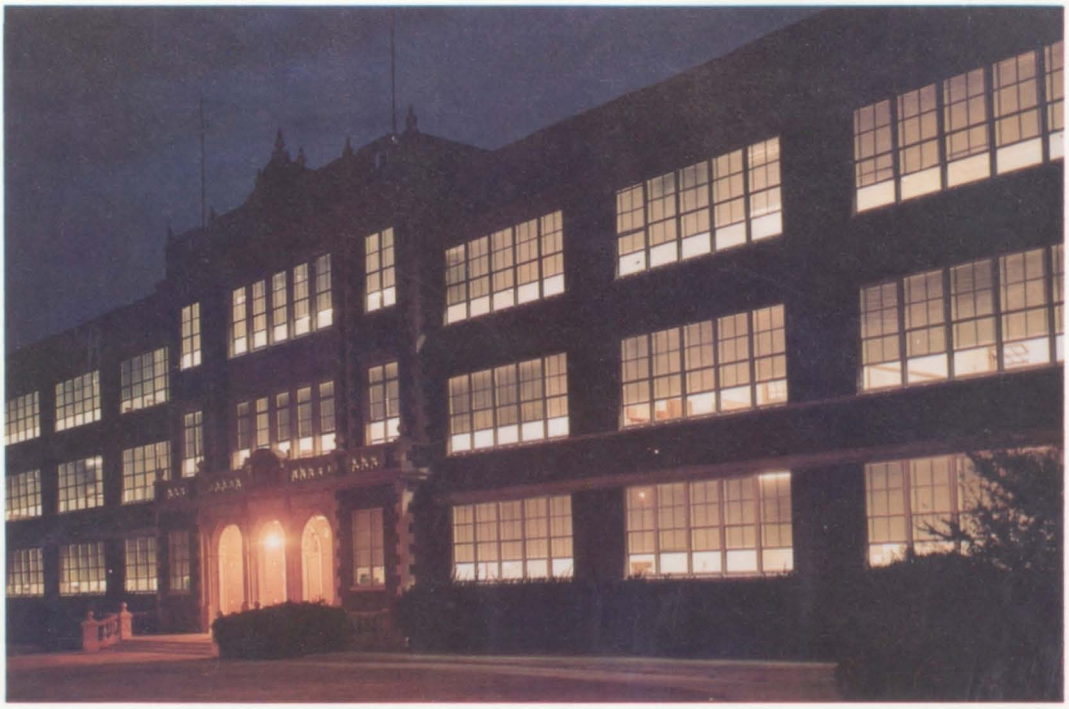
A Declaration By the Representatives of the UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, in General Congress assembled

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature & of nature's god entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with certain inherent & inalienable rights, among these are life, liberty, & the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, & to institute new government, laying it's foundation on such principles & organising it's powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety & happiness. prudence indeed will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light & transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shewn that mankind are more disposed to suffer while evils are sufferable than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. but when a long train of abuses & usurpations [begun at a distinguished period] & pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, & to provide new guards for their future security. such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies; & such is now the necessity which constrains them to expunge their former systems of government. the history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of unremitting injuries and usurpations, among which, appears no solitary fact to contradict the uniform tenor of the rest, all of which have in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. to prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world. [for the truth of which we pledge a faith yet unsullied by falsehood.]

The face of courage appeared in various ways on many people during the school year at Byrd. In taking a test, giving a speech, or competing in sports, students had the courage to accept responsibilities and deal with them accordingly. The colonists saw different facets of courage during the revolution: young men fighting to protect their homes; women helping their families by gathering provisions for soldiers; leaders signing the Declaration of Independence under threat of being hanged; Paul Revere making his desperate midnight ride. The courage of individuals to fight for what they believed in guided them through the last battles and gave them their victories. At Byrd the diverse courage of the students brought them triumph over their own challenges and a sense of pride in the honors placed on their school.

HOPE . . . We



Top: C. E. Byrd High stood as a symbol of the past and a hope for the future. Bottom Left: Even in the desperate winter at Valley Forge, soldiers continued to look with hope to the future. Bottom Right: Daily practice prepared the basketball team for the season ahead.

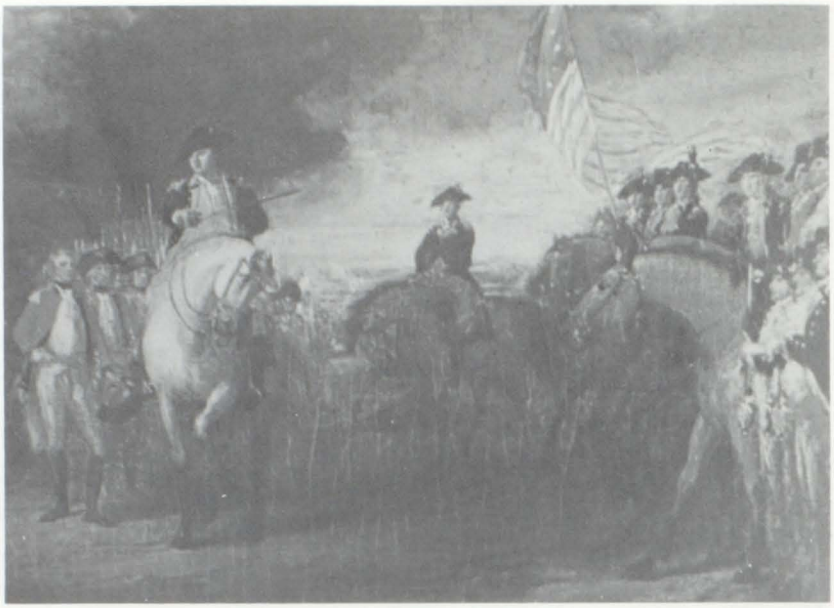
Never Lose Our Spirit

The dauntless spirit of hope at Byrd supported students and teachers through many anxious moments and maintained their faith in their school. Of the many strengths that kept the revolutionaries going, hope must have been highest in their hearts. Having been separated from their families, the Continental Army faced forces much larger and more organized than theirs, marching through agonizing winters with frozen feet and empty stomachs. Even the bleakness of the winter at Valley Forge did not smother the flame of hope that burned in their hearts - the hope for freedom for their country and the hope of reunion with their loved ones. Those who loved Byrd never gave up the hope that their school, even in times of defeat, would continue to accept challenges that represent a school of the finest quality.

VICTORY . . .



A sense of victory in themselves and in their school prevailed in students in the achievements of school honors and personal goals. As in years before, 1975-1976 proved to be a triumphant year in Byrd's record in sports events, various tournaments, service projects, and scholastic honors. When the ragged and worn army of the thirteen colonies forced the surrender of Yorktown, the whole world sang with the incredible story of success. The new nation, victorious in gaining freedom, proved that the concept of a nation ruled by the people was not just a possibility but a reality. This victory over England broke the bonds that enslaved the Americans and gave them a new pride in the nation. After each success of Byrd, students were filled with the sense of pride in knowing that their school was victorious not only as a whole, but also in each individual.

Always We Fight for Victory

Opposite Top: Our nation's victory began with the British surrender. Middle: At the end of a cheer, the cheerleaders formed a "V" for Victory. Bottom Right: During summer music camp, twirlers Koko Dekant, Only Ann Ross, and Debra Bradford won high ranking trophies. Bottom Left: Of the many touchdowns made throughout the year, the winning ones proved most exciting.

Hold Your Heads Up High

The pride of representing a school of such high standards as Byrd made many students and teachers hold their heads high for their school. Evidence of pride overflowed in the attitudes of students in pep rallies where many expressed their pride and loyalty to their own class as well as to the Jackets as a whole. The revolutionaries felt a deep pride that kept them loyal in defense of their country. Citizens of the City of Byrd showed this loyalty to their school in the maintaining of its honor and integrity. It was this pride that continued in students after they left Byrd; it was this pride in their school, friends, and achievements that taught students self-pride in guiding themselves to face the challenges of the new horizons of the future.

LEADERSHIP

Struggling always to do one's best - making the most of one's abilities - caring - these things result in that tangible recognition called honor. To perform one's job, no matter how small, to develop well one's talent, unimportant as it may seem, is to achieve honor. Honors do not come to the ordinary; they are achieved through hard work by those willing to "walk that extra mile" with the occasional reward of personal recognition, though this recognition is a minute reason for striving. Honors also carry with them a responsibility by the person receiving them; he must receive the honor as a reward for work and an incentive for doing more. Honors, then, have helped the students of Byrd discover that man's highest goal is trying to do his best - for himself, his school, and his country.

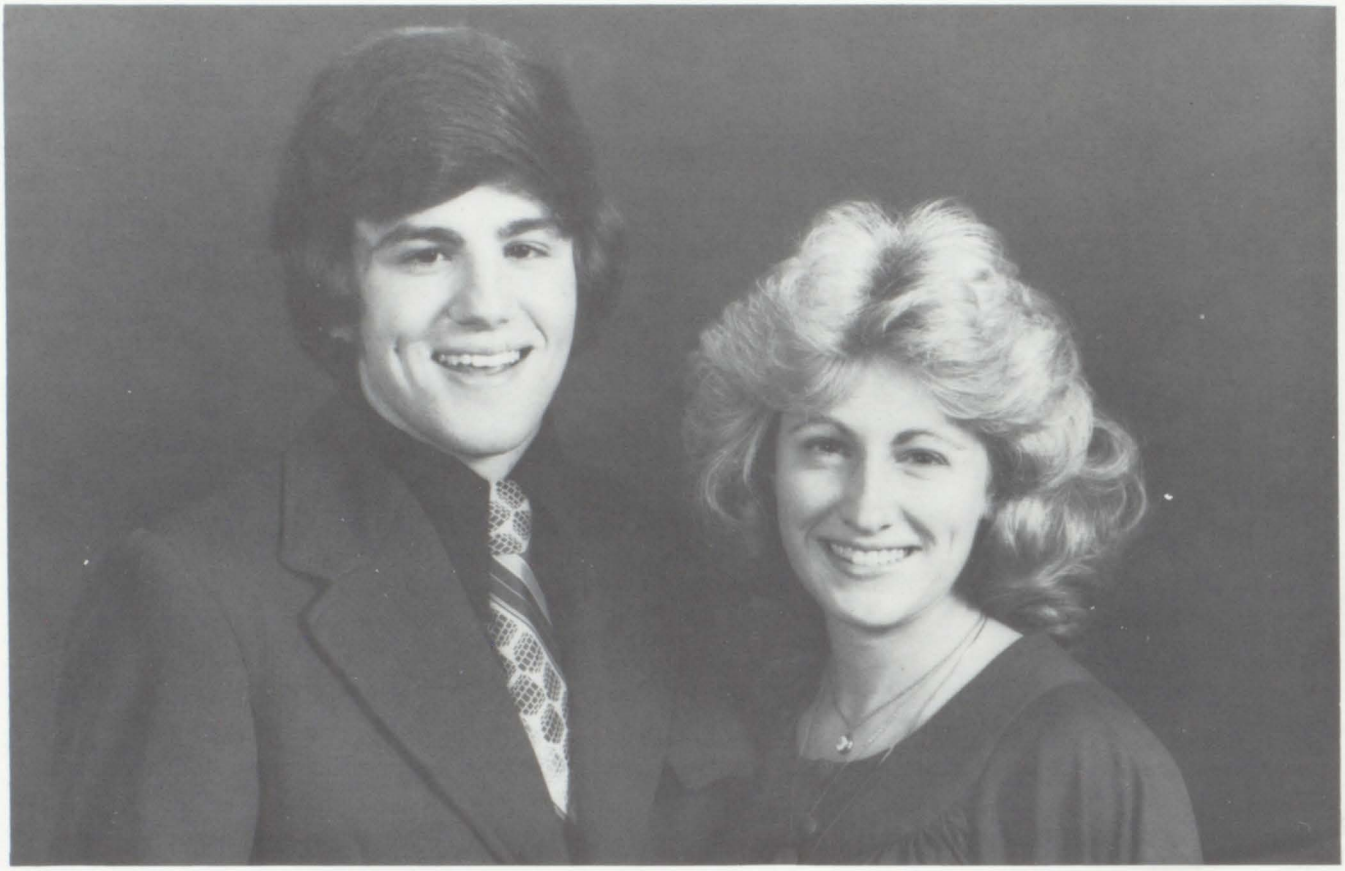
Mr. and Miss Gusher



Kenneth Allen

Bryn Bailey

To honor two seniors for their outstanding capabilities and work as students at Byrd, the GUSHER staff elects one boy and one girl to hold the titles of Mr. and Miss Gusher. After nominating and considering persons for this honor, the staff carefully selects these two persons for their high character and devotion to Byrd. Those elected must have attended Byrd for three years, but could not have been a senior favorite or a member of the GUSHER staff. It is with pride that the 1976 GUSHER staff presents Mr. and Miss Gusher, Bryn Bailey and Kenneth Allen Stamatis. Bryn Bailey has served in various facets of Byrd life during her three years at Byrd. In her sophomore year, Bryn dedicated time to Dope Stop, Youth Art Council, and the Football Ad Staff, in which she was promoted to manager her junior and senior years. Bryn was selected by Junior Medical League to be Treasurer in her first two years at Byrd. She was active her junior year as Vice-President of French Club, a HIGH LIFE reporter, a Gayarre member and a Stingerette. At the end of her junior year Bryn was chosen to be a representative to Pelican State, and a member of National Honor Society and Quill and Scroll. As a senior Bryn was quite devoted to work as a cheerleader and an Interact sponsor.

Kenny Stamatis has proved to be a valuable asset to Byrd. During his sophomore year, Kenny was a member of the Spanish Club and was a Student Council Alternate. As a junior he devoted time to Red Cross as an alternate, and was chosen for the Society of Distinguished American High School Students. Kenny's activities as a senior included membership in Interact and the Student Council Executive Committee.

Favorites Recognized by Seniors

The Seniors of Seventy-Six had the distinction of being graduates of the year set aside by this country to celebrate its two-hundredth anniversary as a free nation. Members of the senior class at Byrd were unique in their own personal ways, and each contributed time to some facet of Byrd. Through service, energy, sacrifice, and determination, seniors continued to lead Byrd in its tradition of being one of the finest schools in the state. The ability shown by these students guided underclassmen in their efforts to work for their school through various organizations. Fine leadership was exhibited by many seniors, since a graduate was able to hold only one major and two minor offices, or three minor offices.

Senior activities included ordering commencement invitations, voting for class motto, flower, and song, measuring for caps and gowns, and electing senior favorites. The responsibility of choosing senior favorites was an important decision, since these seniors would be recognized by many as representatives of their class. GUSHER has honored these twelve favorites on the following pages, presenting them in order of number of votes received. These seniors and many, many more have created memories that will last a lifetime. Through the devotion, effort, and enthusiasm contributed by this class, the seniors have kept alive the saying, "The Spirit of '76 will rise again!"

EVENTS

Extracurricular activities were as much a part of Byrd life as were the scholastic activities. They served to bring students together and to direct their common interests toward more meaningful and worthwhile goals both during and after school. Jackets entered these activities with their characteristic spirit and enthusiasm and encountered a wealth of discoveries and invaluable lessons in working with others. Students explored and experimented, and received training in many different areas. This training prepared them for a position when they would have to take an active role in leading the community. Above all, students learned the thrill of pride and the satisfaction that comes with doing one's best, with working, learning, sharing, and with making themselves and their world just a little better.

ORIENTATION and BACK-TO-SCHOOL

Students were once again brought into the halls and familiarized with the organizations and clubs of Byrd on August 26 and 27. The orientation skit, spoken totally in rhyme, was presented by the Student Council. The Color Guard, Pep Squad, Band, Cheerleaders, and Student Council worked together to get students back into the routine of school.

At Back to School Night the Byrd Orchestra held a special performance in which many popular songs were played for the entertainment of the parents. Also during the meeting different organizations displayed the spirit of the students at Byrd. Mrs. Harvey L. Carter, president of the P.T.A., spoke to the parents about the possibility of installing water fountains and air conditioners at Byrd. Back to school night familiarized parents with Byrd.

The Student Council sponsored a costume contest and a prize was awarded during the assembly. The Art Club participated in Go West Day with the annual display of the wooden figures of Cowboys and Indians in front of the school. As a part of the traditional activities of Go West Day, the Junior Pep Squad painted banners that were hung in the cafeteria. The Stage Band entertained in the courtyard adjoining the cafeteria. To begin the assembly, the Pep Squad marched in the auditorium. Concluding the Go West Day festivities, the C. E. Byrd Marching Band did a superb performance during halftime at the evening game.

GATOR DAY Ended Football Season

Gator Day marked the last game of the season, the Captain Shreve game. A variety of spirited activities were held. Interact won the Key Club sponsored car decorating contest and Doug Gillespie won the competition for individuals. The traditional Senior March took place before school. Hopper Fulco won the Gator Hunt sponsored by Pep Squad and Cheerleaders. The halls rang as the Pep Squad marched with their drums through the halls during sixth period. At the pep rally, the Junior Stingerettes presented a cake to the Seniors. At the game the Pep Squad, Band, and R.O.T.C. did a Bicentennial show forming a liberty bell and 1776.

Pep Squad members painted Jack the Jacket to decorate the walls of the cafeteria.

BASKETBALL DAY Ended Victoriously

Overcome by laughter, Dan Smith prepared to blow the whistle as Mr. James Chico warded off Paul Winder's attack.

Basketball Day marked the last home district game. To celebrate, the student body elected a court which consisted of a representative from each class and a sweetheart elected by the basketball team. After the court was presented during a sixth period assembly in the gym, Coach Johnny Harkness introduced the varsity basketball team. Then two wacky basketball games were played, first faculty women against junior and senior girls, then faculty men against junior and senior boys. During pauses in the games, the stage band played and teachers cheered. The day was ended with the victorious game against Booker T. Washington.

The 1976 Basketball Court and Escorts were: Pat Locke, Dan Sandifer, Dean Sandifer, Liz Oglesby, Freshman representative; Lynn Akins, Junior representative; Erin March, Sweetheart; Patricia Ann Walker, Senior representative; Marilyn Harris, Sophomore representative; Billy Lewis, and Ernest Frazier.

Jacket spirit was boosted by Pep Rallies on football game days. After the posting of the colors and the singing of the alma mater, various organizations presented the skits. The cheerleaders opened the season by showing a movie that they had made during the summer. The Homecoming skit was traditionally given by the National Honor Society. After the skits, the cheerleaders led the students in battle cry to decide which class had the most spirit. The Pep rallies were ended with the singing of the Byrd fight song, "We are Jackets."

Interact members and sponsors imitated teachers in the BTW pep rally.

Dean Sandifer portrayed the Pink Panther in the National Honor Society skit.

Carol Stephens and Joe McReynolds added humor to the Parkway assembly.

ACTIVITIES Highlighted the Year

The orchestra practiced long hours for their spring concert.

During the spring, students gathered several times for special presentations and activities which proved valuable to many students. Highlights of the spring were Student Council campaigns and elections, cheerleader try-outs and practices, and Stingerettes officer elections. The annual football banquet held in late January featured awards given to members of the Football Ad Staff, cheerleaders, and special awards for the football players. The Junior Prom, held in April, presented a King and Queen at the formal dance. All of these activities brought the end of the school year to a close with memories of Byrd for everyone involved.

Bobby Darrow presented his last speech as Student Council President.

The stage band demonstrated its talents to the Byrd student body.

ORGANIZATIONS

Many of the students at Byrd devoted hours to the various organizations. This was one of the outstanding features of Byrd. The participation in these varied organizations helped students to develop a sense of responsibility, which in turn increased their productiveness. These organizations also provided a way for the student to develop skill in working with others, a necessary supplement to their education. Students also acquired a feeling of satisfaction, only achieved through dedication, hard work, and great spirit. Because of Byrd's size, there were many ways in which a student could turn, according to his own interests. Each participant learned the importance of cooperation and dependability. Being active in these clubs gave students a chance to discover and develop new interests and abilities, and to become outstanding citizens.

CHEERLEADERS Experienced

Byrd's '75-'76 Cheerleaders expressed their great Jacket Spirit by all the successful pep-rallies, banners, and cheers at the games. During the summer, the group attended cheerleading camp at Sam Houston State College in Huntsville, Texas, in order to learn cheers, leadership techniques, and new ways to arouse school spirit. The first pep-rally included a film of Jack the Jacket made by the Cheerleaders which promoted a new kind of spirit and showed all the newcomers how much spirit the students really had. All this led to many hours of hard work to keep alive the saying "Jacket Spirit Ain't Never Gonna Die."

GUSHER Staff Gained Insight

Producing a significant inventory of the momentous activities of the Bicentennial school year was the mission of the 1975-1976 GUSHER staff. Members arrived at this destination by investigating various clubs and people, and by recording Bicentennial events and other occurrences during the year. Although being a staff member included sacrificing afternoon and weekend time devoted to vigorous work constructing the book and selling ads to patrons, members enjoyed the assignments and the people related to the staff. The memorable year was fulfilled when the GUSHER was presented to the staff by the officers at a party celebrating the completion of the book. The goal of the staff could not have been achieved without the constant supervision of the staff sponsors, Miss Wanda Whittington, who coordinated the editorial content of the book, and Mrs. Phalamae Gray, who directed the business activities. The main concern of the GUSHER lay in measuring the adventures, excitements, circumstances, crises, and friendships that made 1975-1976 an unforgettable school year.

Red Cross, a service organization for the community, was one of the largest and busiest organizations at C. E. Byrd. Some of the projects it took on were providing three families with a Thanksgiving dinner and providing another three families with toys and food for Christmas. At Easter they sold Bunny Bags at school to earn money for the Red Cross. They also held parties at different Day Care Nurseries during the year. At school, the Red Cross held the school-wide membership drive at the beginning of the year and edited the Student Directory.

Sponsor, Mrs. Hattie Bonner, and Jan Beebe discussed additional projects to be conducted.

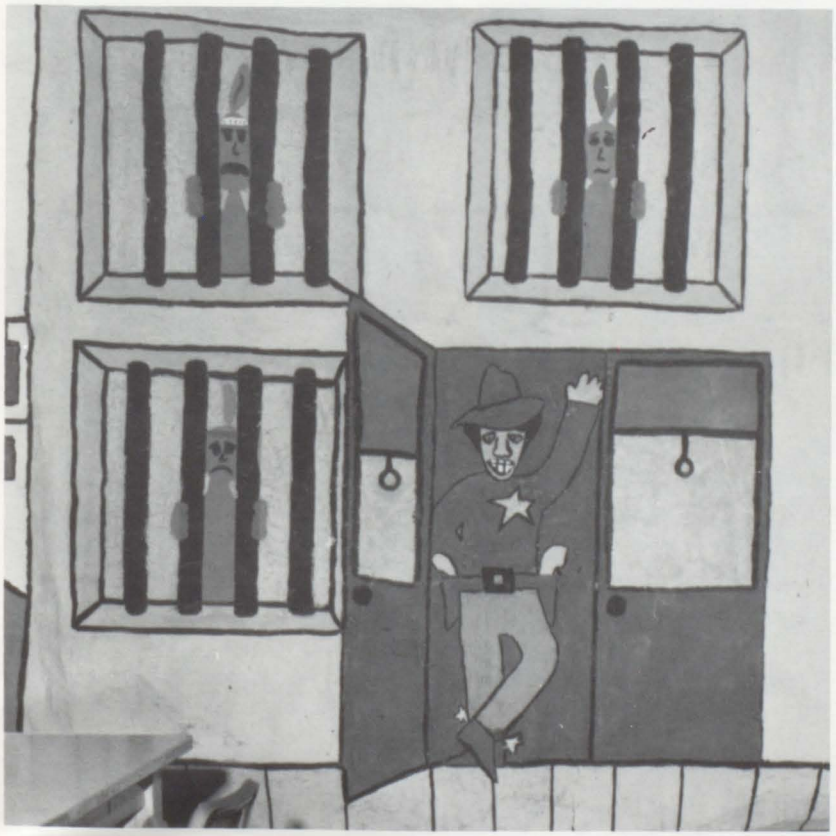
Christmastime to Raise Money

At the close of football season, the Junior Pep Squad presented the Seniors with a Liberty Bell cake.



Following a tradition set several years ago, the Junior Stingerettes painted murals for the week of Go West.

The strains of "We Are Jackets" when a game was won, and undaunted Jacket Pride when a game was lost - this was the Spirit of Byrd upheld by the Stingerettes. Composed of Junior and Senior girls, the Pep Squad worked many long hours to provide several rewarding projects. Their year began when the girls crammed learning four performances, painting banners, and learning cheers and chants into six weeks of summer practice. Many projects were taken up by the Stingerettes to raise money and to be of service to the school and community. Among these were writing and performing the Southwood assembly skit, selling candles and candy, sponsoring a needy family at Christmas, as well as cheering at football and basketball games. Through all the hard work, victories and disappointments, the Stingerettes learned to work together and gained close and lasting friendships.

During the summer, the Pep Squad spent many long, hot hours learning new cheers.

MILITARY

Fluttering proudly in the breeze, the flag of the United States of America was briskly raised to the top of the flagpole by an alert color-guard, who, having saluted respectfully, returned to the building to begin yet another day as members of the Byrd R.O.T.C. Department - a department which instills pride and love of country in each cadet it touches. Yet respect and reverence for ideals for which Americans have fought for and died were also very important. There were also many discoveries in this area. They came to value beyond price the ideals for which their country stands. They emerged from their rigors of inspection and the trials of marching drills better persons - more ready to defend their country and possessing a personal sense of pride that will remain with them for the rest of their lives.

ALPHA COMPANY

Alpha Company, led by Commander Mark Lumpkin, had the largest number of members. Striving hard for the honor of "best company," A Company concentrated on perfecting their drills and gaining knowledge on military subjects. Although they came in second for the honor, "A" Company never lost their "esprit de corps." The executive officer was Charlotte Marks, and the two platoon leaders were 1st Lieutenants Patti Phillips and Mack Stewart. The Alpha Company's top sergeant was John Long.

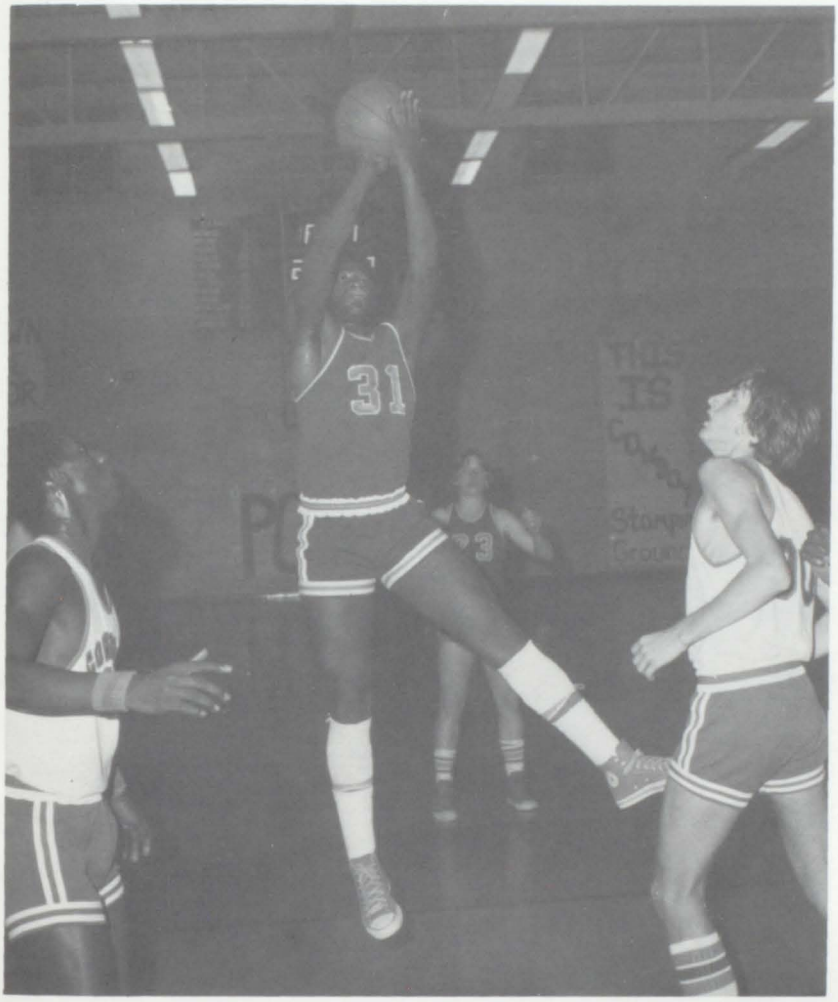
COMPETITION



Competition through athletics is discovery - discovery of a person in himself, discovery of the thrill of teamwork, of their own abilities, and of their place in the world. These individuals involved with the athletic program learned the value of teamwork and gained experience in human relations. Skill was also gained through rigorous practice, while participation in team athletics developed a sense of unity among the individual members.

Athletes learned to give their best in all jobs, and not to leave any task uncompleted. They learned to be humble in the glories of victory, and yet they learned to face defeat with a defiant nature. Reality was the main discovery made through this department. It showed life is not all "sugar and spice" and often there are discouraging times.

Overcoming predictions by many observers that the Byrd Yellow Jackets were too small and lacked depth as well as experienced leadership, the Jackets astounded loyal fans as well as critics and opponents. Byrd was ranked twelfth statewide for two weeks. Only through many hours of hard work, self-sacrifice, and dedication by the players were the Jackets able to post a winning record of six wins and four losses.

Jackets Met First Defeat of Season

Byrd 6 Fair Park 28

Entering the district 1-quad A opener, the Byrd Yellow Jackets were undefeated and ranked eleventh in the state, only to receive their first defeat from Fair Park. The Indians struck early with two touchdowns in the first quarter of play. The Yellow Jackets were held to a standstill. The second quarter was more of the same, with the exception of a Fair Park score.

At the half the score was Byrd 0 Fair Park 21, yet the Yellow Jackets refused to roll over and be held scoreless. Late in the third quarter Steve Norris blocked a punt deep in Fair Park territory. He then picked it up and took it into the end zone for the score. After the score the Yellow Jacket defense tightened allowing only one touchdown in the second half.

Robert Folsom powered his way around right end for a substantial gain.

Ronnie Rossett cut back looking for an opening in the Fair Park defensive line.

Byrd 13 Huntington 8

Bouncing back from their first loss of the season, the Yellow Jackets entered their second district game determined to win. On the opening kick the ball was fumbled, only to be recovered by Huntington on Byrd's 20 yardline. The fired up Jackets denied Huntington a score and gained possession of the ball. From that point on the Yellow Jackets took over. On the Jackets first drive they had to punt. With their second drive they went to the air hitting Miles Cook on a 63 yard touchdown pass with Robert Folsom on the extra point. Huntington's only touchdown came on the next drive; making the 2 point conversion made the score Byrd 7, Huntington 8. This agitated the Jackets, giving them all the more reason to plow through Huntington's defense, allowing Robert Folsom to score off left tackle. The conversion was missed. The Yellow Jacket defense held Huntington's offense to a standstill the entire second half, giving Byrd its third win and first district win.

Miles Cook drove through the tackle of a Huntington defender on his way to the goal line.

JACKETS Won Homecoming Game

Byrd 22 Parkway 19

Byrd went into this non-conference game with three wins and one loss. Anxious to win their homecoming game the Yellow Jackets came prepared. Parkway scored in the first quarter but this did not discourage Byrd. The Jackets quickly retaliated with a 27-yard David Woodley to John Reisz pass for a touchdown. Robert Folsom kicked the extra point. This along with a touchdown pass to Ronnie Rossett and Robert Folsom adding the extra point left the score Byrd 14, Parkway 13 at the half. The third quarter went scoreless, but in the fourth quarter Parkway scored again but failed to convert for the extra point. The Yellow Jackets were now 5 points behind with 5 minutes left in the game, but Robert Folsom scored on a 5-yard run and a Woodley to Reisz pass was good for the 2-point conversion. The defense then refused to give Parkway any yardage, clinching the fourth win of the season.

David Woodley exploded through Parkway's defensive line into open field.

John Reisz darted through the Parkway defensive secondary.

The Jackets initiated two long second half drives, only to be stopped both times on close fourth down plays inside the 20-yard line. Ronnie Rossett and Mark Hulsizer highlighted the second half with interceptions deep in Jacket territory. The loss dropped the Jackets' record to 4-2.

Defense Blanked Lions

Byrd 7 BTW 0

The Jackets won this Halloween night thriller with their outstanding defensive play in a game which included a nullified touchdown for each team. On the second play of the game, David Woodley rifled a 78-yard touchdown pass to Donald Jenkins, only to have it called back on a holding penalty. The Lions lost their lone scoring opportunity when they blocked a Woodley punt and recovered it in the end zone only to find they had been off-sides on the play. Neither team could move the ball until the Jacket offense initiated a 40-yard fourth quarter drive, highlighted by Woodley passes of 15 and 13-yards to Miles Cook and Robert Folsom. The touchdown came as Woodley rolled 9 yards into the end zone. This score provided the margin of victory as the fired up defense held the Lions for the remainder of the game.

A 9-yard run by John Reisz accounted for the third touchdown. Opening the second half, the Jackets returned the kickoff to the Gator 49 yard line. The offense took over and drove the remaining distance to take the lead, 26-20. The wild Byrd fans were soon quieted as the Gators gained a 27-26 lead. BOYS' P.E. Held Many Activities

The fifteen boys' physical education classes participated in many various activities to help them both physically and mentally. Team sports, played seasonally, were touch football, volleyball, basketball, and softball. Individual sports included golf, tennis, table tennis, badminton, track, weight training, and bowling. Students were taken by bus to the bowling alleys. Swimming and water safety, taught at Querbes park, also were offered for the first time in recent years. Freshmen were given orientation and physical fitness tests. The students not only enjoyed these classes but also benefitted from them.

Students ran relay races, which promoted both team and individual accomplishment.

Clay Calhoun attempted to shoot the basketball as Chris Gras and Vic Metcalf jumped to block.

GIRLS' P.E. Encouraged Sportsmanship

Various exercises were learned in the girls' P.E. classes.

Good sportsmanship and teamwork were encouraged in the Girls' physical education department. Girls were taught the fundamentals of volleyball, gymnastics, modern dance, and trampoline. Two credits of Physical Education were required in the freshman and sophomore years, leaving room for two electives in the junior and senior years. The girls concentrated on a self-improvement course, ballet, bowling, and a unit of health. A new idea this year was swimming for co-ed.

Cindy Martin practiced trampoline skills while being observed by her classmates.

Basketball encouraged teamwork and good sportsmanship.

MUSIC

Music is a bond all nature shares in common. Learning to appreciate it has led Byrd students and people everywhere to discover true brotherhood and the highest ideals of life. Music can never be fully explained or even understood by men, for it rises above the limits of mere mortals and their languages. Music inspired, consoled, angered, and cheered its listeners. It also served as an outlet for one of the most fulfilling experiences in education, for it led both those who actually produced it and those who merely enjoyed it to the realization that there is more to life than can be recorded in books. This department of Byrd helped musicians to discover their own abilities, to learn the thrill of working as a group to produce a thing of beauty, and to enable them to express what men have felt throughout the ages.

CHOIR Used Bicentennial

The Byrd High School Choir, under the direction of Mr. James Sullivan, built their theme around the Bicentennial. The choir along with Miss Barbara Whitehead's American History classes, presented in the spring of 1976, a program depicting the history of our country. EDUCATORS

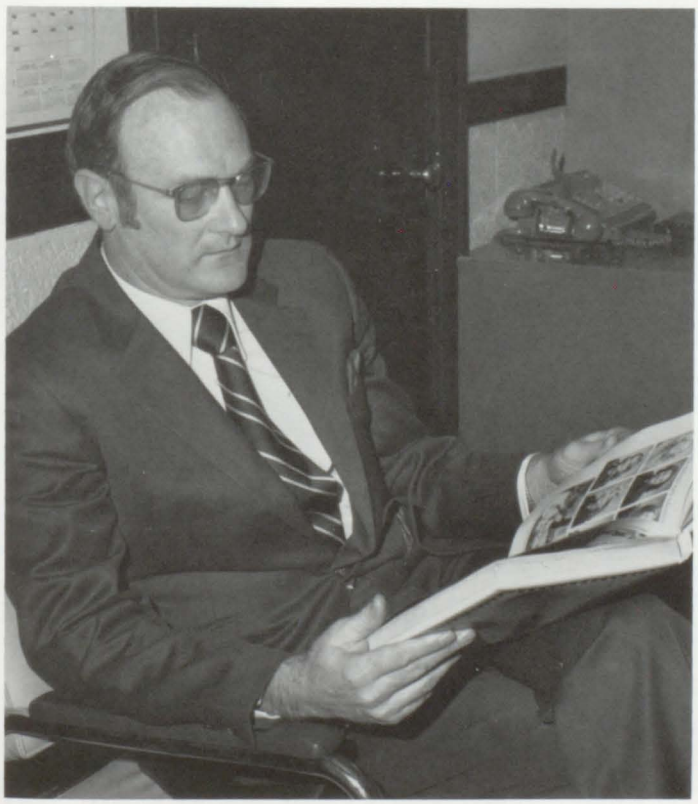
To lead the student to discover and explore the world around him, to prepare him to take his place in society, to help him develop as a person - these were the aims of our dedicated faculty. These educators worked to pass their learning on and inspire their students to continue in the quest for knowledge. But once the student had been shown the discoveries and achievements of the past, once he had learned the skills and guidelines for making discoveries in the present, the teacher's job was over. At this point, the education must step back while the individuals that have been molded and shaped go forward on their own to form the society and make the discoveries of the world tomorrow. These discoveries were particularly important ones, for the way they revealed the world to the student very often determined that student's choice of the way to spend the remainder of his life.

Dr. B. L. Shaw

Byrd Welcomed DR. SHAW Back

Dr. Shaw talked to the student body on Go West Day after being introduced by Tom Young.

Returning as principal of Byrd, Dr. Shaw made a strong effort to become reacquainted with the students. He supervised all the activities at Byrd such as the athletic, academic and extra-curricular programs. Dr. Shaw also represented Byrd at various meetings and conventions throughout the year. He encouraged participation in extra-curricular activities and asked students for suggestions to help improve their school. He also promoted school spirit by attending all athletic functions, and taking part in Go West Day and Gator Day activities. On Go West Day Dr. Shaw dressed as the city sheriff and appeared before the student body during the assembly. The student body of Byrd was happy to welcome him back.



During a quiet moment, Dr. B. L. Shaw reminisced over past year by looking through an old GUSHER.

Dr. Shaw gave Mrs. Nissen information needed for a report.

WINTLE and WILSON Strove to

After having been on sabbatical for a year, Mrs. Wintle returned to her job as assistant principal. Some of her duties were handling textbooks, materials and suplies. Mrs. Wintle was in charge of instruction and curriculum, and obtaining substitute teachers. Her service to teachers and her advice on insructional techniques helped to give Byrd's students the best possible opportunity to learn.

Mrs. M. C. Wintle

Mrs. Wintle helped Mrs. Stephens write up a supply order.

Mrs. Wintle made calls to obtain substitute teachers.

Make Byrd a Better School

Mr. Wilson worked to maintain Byrd's quality.

Mr. Wilson went over the dress code with Amy Williams.

Serving as an assistant principal, Mr. George Wilson had many time consuming activities. A student advisory committee was chosen to assist Mr. Wilson with all student elections under his direction. Mr. Wilson helped many students in matters of discipline and rule enforcement. The lunch pass and dress code programs were administered by Mr. Wilson. In all aspects, Mr. Wilson proved to be a valuable asset to Byrd.

COUNSELORS and COORDINATORS

Every individual at Bryd was either directly or indirectly involved with a counselor at some time. Freshman, Sophomore, and Junior students went to their counselors for help in organizing their schedules. Junior and Senior students used their counselors in planning college and career choices. Some of the responsibilities of the counselors included scheduling, phasing, advising, and helping students with college testing programs and scholarship applications. The counselors also provided an area where information could be acquired regarding vocational and educational planning. Counselors at Byrd have been invaluable to students for many years in guidance and instruction.

The Work Study Program allowed students eligible for the course to graduate in three years by placing them in job openings. Many Seniors were placed in full time jobs where they learned how to become a good employee. Juniors acquired part-time jobs but learned the basics of employment just the same. The students who took Work Study will truly be prepared for jobs in the future and have a better chance for employment since they have on the job training.

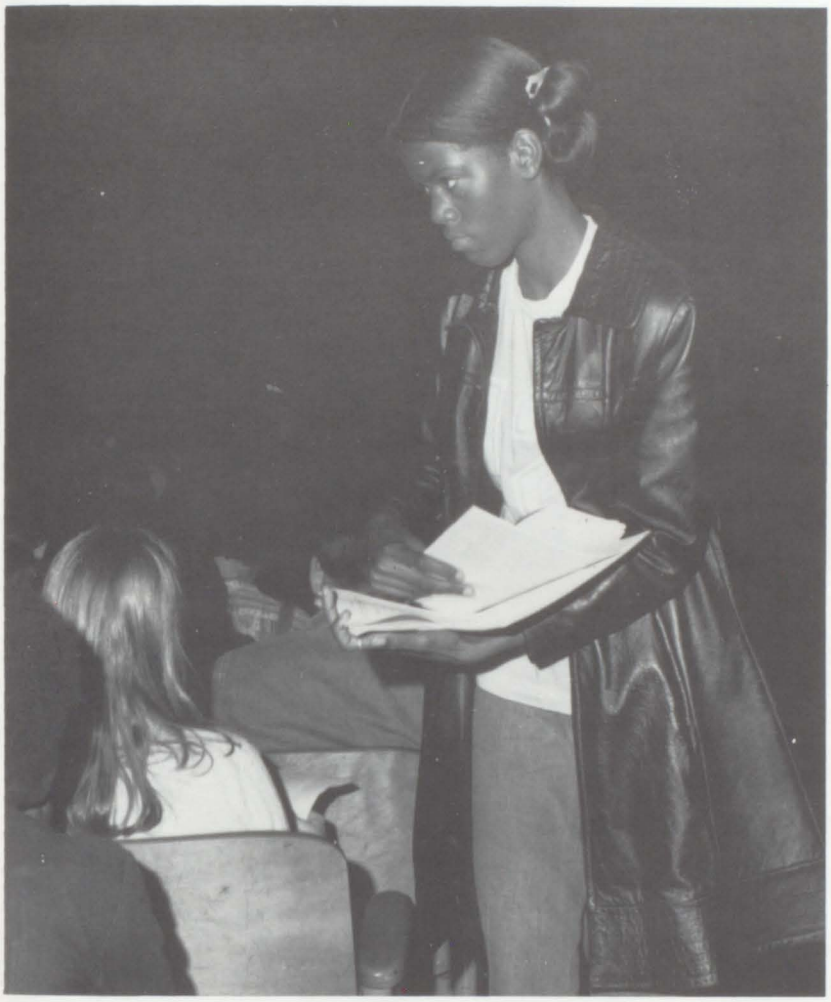
INDIVIDUALS



Sharing with friends the joys and pains of maturation - learning to appreciate that special beauty which lies within every person - developing personal values and coming to respect the values of others - these are just a few of the many things discovered by each individual of C. E. Byrd. They alone make Byrd what it has always been. They learned vital lessons in human relations, and each in their own way made their contributions to the school. They uncovered discoveries about others and about themselves that will not be soon forgotten; their influence will be felt throughout the future, even beyond the time when a few names and faces fade from our memories. There is one thing all Byrdites have in common: they have shared that special magic called spirit and have truly discovered the meaning of Jacket Pride.

SENIORS Acquired

Loyalty - Liberty - Pride - These were the key words in the lives of the Seniors of 1976. Recognized as Bicentennial Graduates, Seniors displayed loyalty to Byrd by participation in various organizations of the school. Even if 1976 were a Senior's first year at Byrd, each proudly upheld the Jacket spirit that has existed for so many years. Towards the end of the year, each Senior began the task of making important decisions about his future. Through long, difficult, heart-breaking, beloved years at Byrd, the feelings of the Seniors of 1976 were mixed, but memories gained here will last forever.

The football players practiced twice a day during the summer to prepare for the upcoming season.

The JUNIORS Excitedly Received

The 1975-76 Junior class showed their school spirit by participating in projects dealing with the school and community. A number of Juniors took part in several different types of competition ranging from athletics to speech and debate.

Keeping with tradition, Juniors ordered their Senior rings in the fall of the school year and received them in December.

The enthusiasm of the Seniors of '77 helped them to win the spirit stick at many pep rallies, and to be an asset to Byrd High School.

Lynn Akins and Scott Politz nominated fellow classmates for Junior class office.

Their Senior Rings

Diane Cooper excitedly received her Senior ring order packet.

Many FRESHMEN Helped

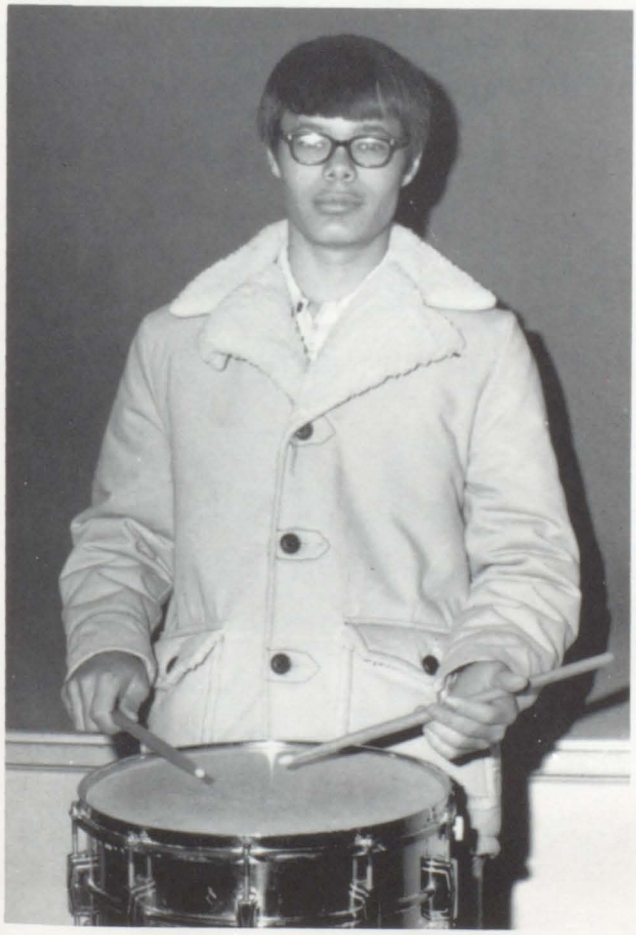
The Freshman Class, led by Bonn Bailey, proved to be enthusiastic and eager to become involved. Winning the spirit stick early in the year boosted freshman moral tremendously. This spirit lived on throughout the year. Freshmen were always found cheering at football and basketball games. They participated in the French Club, Debate Club, Orchestra and Band. Nineteen-seventy-five was a breakthrough for Freshmen; they were admitted to service clubs and introduced to GUSHER. Freshmen at Byrd High advanced both academically and socially. Freshmen will remember their first year at Byrd as a valuable experience and appreciate it for many years.

Gene Moody busily called absentees.

Class officers were: Youlanda Richardson, Vice-President; Bonn Bailey, President; Carla Scroggins, Secretary; Susan Hodge, Treasurer; Brenda Sebren, Parliamentarian; Feloncia Walker, Sergeant-at-Arms.

With Office Work

Sheila Woodall, Gene Moody, and Wendy Williams had the honor of being Freshman class officer nominees.



Mike Owens was a drum player for the band.

ADVERTISING

Advertising is the form of daily communications that helps to inform the individual of the needs of his everyday life. Through advertising, businesses are able to publicize various products and services, creating the competition so largely responsible for America's high standard of living. Publicity keeps the community aware of new advances and improvements in all fields. Through this contact with advertising and advertisers, Byrd students discovered much about the demands of our commercial society. They learned to face the reality of survival in advertising's competitive atmosphere. The discoveries about the individual's place in society, its service to student publications and the general well being of the community, have caused advertising to be an invaluable lesson to each and every Jacket.

This is Byrd High School. You will soon be as much a part of it as it will be a part of you. It holds your future and you hold its future. The horizon is unlimited.

You can never leave Byrd High School, for its training, its memories, and its reputation will go with you forever. Likewise Byrd High School can never erase you; the mark you make upon this institution will remain here for eternity.

Do not take lightly the task which lies before you. In your hands rests the future of Byrd High School, the prospects of the City of Shreveport, the pride of Louisiana, the hope of America, and the destiny of the World.

WESTERN ELECTRIC:

We're Part of the Bell System . . .

The story of the invention of the telephone begins officially on the night of March 10, 1876: "Mr. Watson, come here; I want to see you!" These historic words, the first sentence ever transmitted over an electric telephone, were uttered by Alexander Graham Bell when he accidentally spilled acid on his clothes. The acid was part of the transmission apparatus, called the "Liquid Telephone;" the receiver was a tuned reed.

From that beginning, the telephone has grown to become a necessary part of everyday life. In 1976, the Bell System has nearly 120 million telephones in service. Worldwide, there are about 350 million telephones in service, 99.5 percent of which can be easily reached by the Bell System.

The Shreveport Works of Western Electric plays a significant role in the telephone story. Right here in Shreveport, we manufacture over half of all new telephone sets for the Bell System, giving our city the distinction of being the "Telephone Capital of the World."

Our 5,400 employees will continue to provide South Central Bell and the other Bell companies with quality telephones and related equipment. Western Electric's Shreveport Works: We're part of the Bell System . . . We make things that bring people closer.

While traversing a lifetime
we should not concern ourselves with steps that lead us
day to decade
or even year to year.
Moment to moment is enough,
you do not ask for more though it is certain to be given almost always . . .
And memories are the only sanity
the world can now assure us.
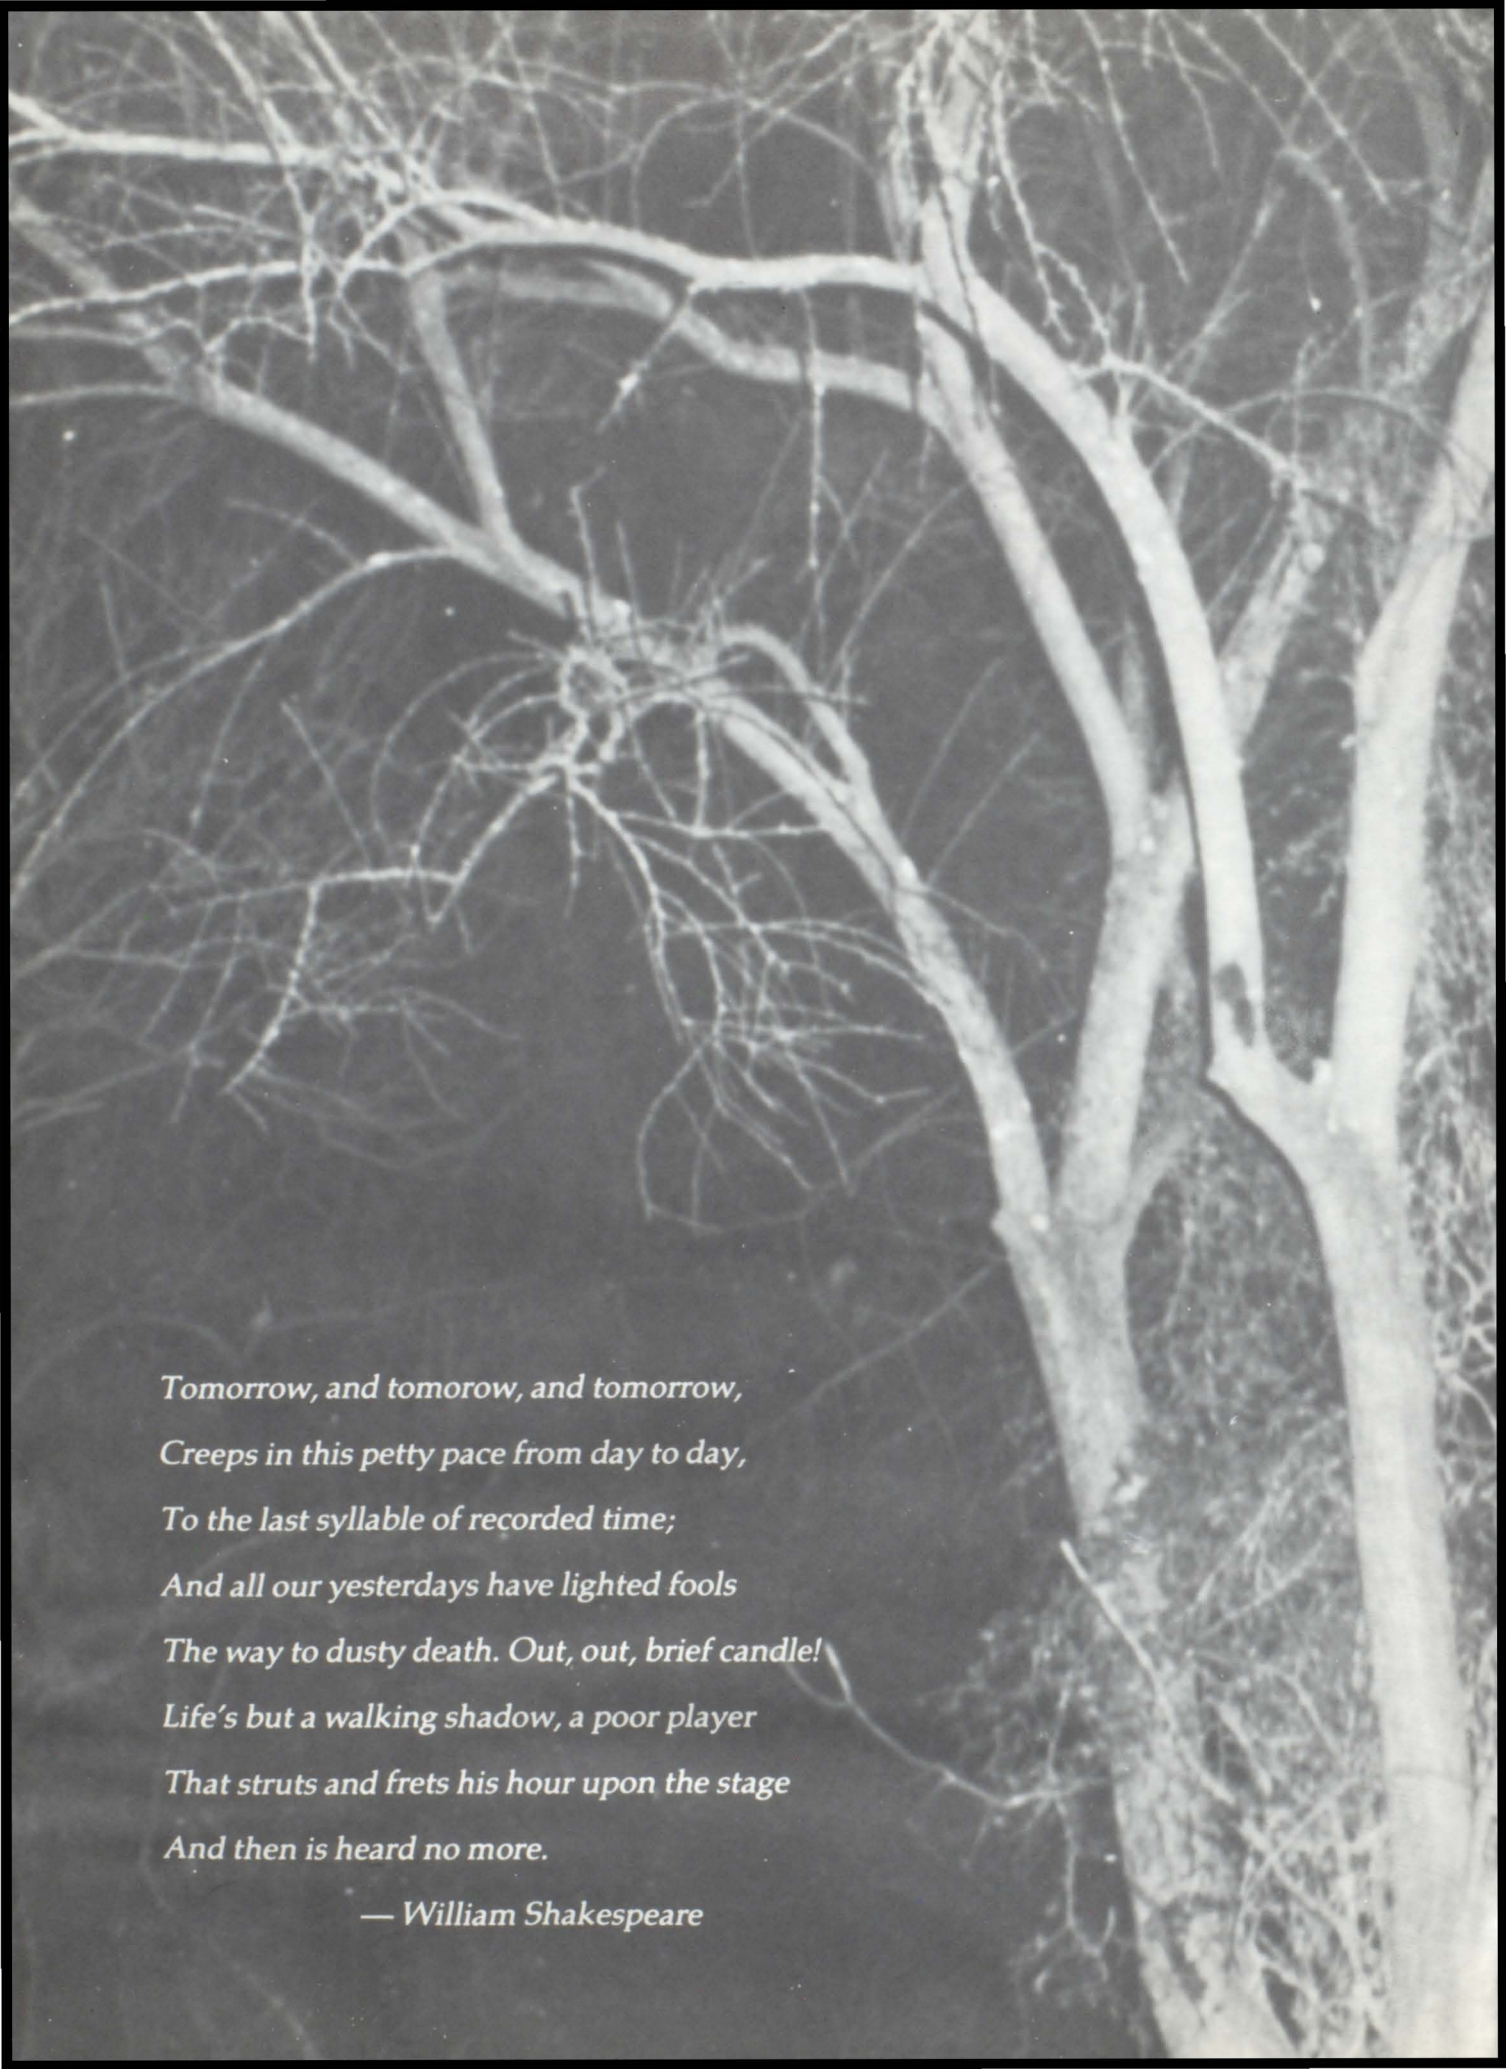
— Rod McKuen
JAMES RAY BRYANT, JR.
1959-1976



Tomorrow, and tomorow, and tomorrow,
Creeps in this petty pace from day to day,
To the last syllable of recorded time;
And all our yesterdays have lighted fools
The way to dusty death. Out, out, brief candle!
Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player
That struts and frets his hour upon the stage
And then is heard no more.

— William Shakespeare
